Page 1 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 2 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 3 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 4 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 5 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 6 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 7 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 8 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 9 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 10 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 11 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 12 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 13 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 14 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 15 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 16 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 17 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 18 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 19 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 20 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

Page 21 of the long contract.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.

The parties agree that this section contains general provisions for test purposes only. It describes routine administrative matters, cooperation between the parties, and the exchange of ordinary business information in the normal course of dealing.